FIT1016 Advanced project level 1 - Semester 2, 2012

This unit introduces students to a variety of topics outside the curriculum, and provides an opportunity to write programs (or, rarely, to build hardware) in an area of interest to the student and the School. The subject operates in an informal manner, and the programming tasks are designed to be interesting and challenging to advanced students. Students will typically meet with their supervisor on a weekly basis and in addition to demonstrating the results of their project, they will also give an oral presentation.

Mode of Delivery

Clayton (Day)

Contact Hours

Workload

Students must attend a preliminary session to hear about the projects being offered, and attend a final presentation session. During semester, they may have weekly meetings with the supervisor, but the nature and duration of these meetings will be determined by the supervisor and student together.

The amount of work required will vary depending on the project and the existing knowledge and programming experience of the student, however 2-6 hrs personal study a week (gaining the required background knowledge, developing and implementing a solution, then writing up the project) would be a reasonable expectation.

Academic Overview

Outcomes

At the completion of this unit students will:

- understand concepts from several areas of Computer Science not covered in their normal curriculum;
- know where to find further information on a range of topics on computer programming and computer science;
- understand, from their own experience, some of the difficulties that can arise in larger programming tasks;
- be able to learn new programming languages and tools on their own, without formal instruction;
- be aware of the diverse range of tools that can be used to solve computing problems;
- be aware of the breadth of the Computer Science discipline;
- have an appreciation of the nature of Computer Science;
- have skills in using a programming language or technology not covered in their normal curriculum;
- have experience demonstrating a computer program;
- have experience giving an oral presentation of a computing project.

Graduate Attributes

Monash prepares its graduates to be:

1. responsible and effective global citizens who:

- a. engage in an internationalised world
- b. exhibit cross-cultural competence
- c. demonstrate ethical values

critical and creative scholars who:

- a. produce innovative solutions to problems
- b. apply research skills to a range of challenges
- c. communicate perceptively and effectively

Assessment Summary

Assessment is based entirely on a demonstration of the students project work, which will include oral discussion of the concepts and skills learned. The unit is Pass Grade Only.

Assessment Task	Value	Due Date
Final presentation		Last week of semester (TBA)
Final demonstration		By the end of semester
Final report		End of semester

Teaching Approach

Peer assisted learning

This learning approach provides an opportunity of advanced exploration in programming that is in an area of interest to the student and the School.

Feedback

Our feedback to You

Types of feedback you can expect to receive in this unit are:

- Other: Feedback from project supervisor during meetings, and from peers and other supervisors during the final presentations

Your feedback to Us

Monash is committed to excellence in education and regularly seeks feedback from students, employers and staff. One of the key formal ways students have to provide feedback is through SETU, Student Evaluation of Teacher and Unit. The University's student evaluation policy requires that every unit is evaluated each year. Students are strongly encouraged to complete the surveys. The feedback is anonymous and provides the Faculty with evidence of aspects that students are satisfied and areas for improvement.

For more information on Monash's educational strategy, and on student evaluations, see:

Assessment Tasks

Participation

- Assessment task 1

Title:

Final presentation

Description:

Oral presentation on project

Weighting:

Criteria for assessment:

Students will be assessed on the quality of the presentation, in particular they should make it clear what the aim of the project was, the approach they took to the project and what they have achieved.

Due date:

Last week of semester (TBA)

- Assessment task 2

Title:

Final demonstration

Description:

Demonstrate project to supervisor

Weighting:

Criteria for assessment:

Something has been produced that is a solution to at least some part of the problem addressed.

Due date:

By the end of semester

- Assessment task 3

Title:

Final report

Description:

Written report on what has been done for project.

Weighting:

Criteria for assessment:

◆ Clarity of written expression

Assessment Requirements

- ◆ Description of project and its aims
- ◆ Description of approach taken
- ◆ Description of what has been achieved in the project

Due date:

End of semester

Remarks:

Supervisors will provide guidance on what the structure and contents of the final report should be, as this will be very project specific.

Assignment submission

It is a University requirement

(<http://www.policy.monash.edu/policy-bank/academic/education/conduct/plagiarism-procedures.html>) for students to submit an assignment coversheet for each assessment item. Faculty Assignment coversheets can be found at <http://www.infotech.monash.edu.au/resources/student/forms/>. Please check with your Lecturer on the submission method for your assignment coversheet (e.g. attach a file to the online assignment submission, hand-in a hard copy, or use an online quiz).

Online submission

If Electronic Submission has been approved for your unit, please submit your work via the VLE site for this unit, which you can access via links in the my.monash portal.

Extensions and penalties

Submission must be made by the due date otherwise penalties will be enforced.

You must negotiate any extensions formally with your campus unit leader via the in-semester special consideration process:

<http://www.infotech.monash.edu.au/resources/student/equity/special-consideration.html>.

Returning assignments

Students can expect assignments to be returned within two weeks of the submission date or after receipt, whichever is later.
